eDoc Services Exceed Expectations

MIDWAY, UT and Middlebury, VT – October 22nd, 2009

eDOC Innovations, a leading e-Document strategy development CUSO recently received accolades from Eaton County Educational Credit Union, located Charlotte, MI, as part of their migration to the OSI TIGER2 to TCCUS-SME data processing platform. The eDoc Innovations team was there to help with their conversion and according to the credit union, the assistance proved was invaluable.

Ken Huber shares his experience:

"I would be pleased to be a reference for eDOC Innovations. The credit union uses the 2020Cold Reports and 2020Cold Statements. The conversion from TIGIR2 to TCCUS-SME was not very smooth but eDOC was very helpful in setting up the eDOC systems to handle the new reports and the process for downloading them automatically each day.

We had an issue with statements from the time of conversion. SME produces statements using XML format. Our statement producer did a nice job in the production of a great looking statement. However, the credit union had no way to view the statement. eDOC was able to generate an updated version of the statement that looked like the one produced by our mailer. The credit union is now able to view the statement in the same format as that received by the member. I'm much appreciative of the work eDOC did to get us to this position. Thank you."

"Our goal, as a CUSO, is to provide a service experience that our peers can talk about with enthusiasm. Our team members are dedicated to our peers and their success," comments Mark Fierro, Manager of eDOC's implementation team.
