WESCO Net Earns Dell Enterprise Architecture Cert

Grand Rapids, Michigan – May 11th, 2010

WESCO Net, a Grand Rapids, MI based leader in network integration, security, and managed services solutions is now a fully certified Dell Enterprise Architect Partner, the highest certification level currently available.

This certification allows WESCO Net to engineer and implement enterprise grade technical solutions leveraging a full suite of Dell and Dell partner technologies including Server, Storage (including SANs), VMWare, Microsoft Hyper-V, and disaster recovery and business continuity solutions.

Certified Enterprise Architect Partners maintain at least four individuals certified in a variety of Dell products and solutions in both sales/design and technical support disciplines and must maintain at minimum annual sales commitment.

Matt Sawtell, Manager WESCO Net Systems explains, "This certification is valuable because we have invested up front in the technical training for our staff so we can design the best solution with the best value at the lowest cost to our clients. We have full access to any Dell solution we may need including the full line of PowerEdge servers, PowerConnect switches, PowerVault storage, plus EqualLogic SANs, EMC, Data Domain, etc."
